March 2012

Dear Friends,

I want to welcome everyone from around the world to Vancouver. It is again my pleasure this year to offer my congratulations and best wishes to the organizers and participants in the 2012 Vancouver International Soccer Festival.

We have all witnessed the positive power of sport locally and around the world. It transcends conflict and brings people and nations together to create hope and life-long friendships. The work that One Team United has done to bring people together to promote world peace and positive social change through soccer is an inspiration to everyone.

I look forward to hearing the stories of the athletes inspiring the youth of today and those who have travelled the world to play "the beautiful game." I want to encourage everyone who is a fan of sport to take in the event and cheer on your favourite participants!

Sincerely,
